copytrans contacts 2.100 crack yadu aadu Notes Category:Software that uses Qt Category:Data synchronizationQ: Compare Version using ruby I have 2 ruby files. One is config file. From config file, I am trying to load values from app.rb file. I am using this code to compare 2 versions of app.rb if File.file?('app/config/app.rb') if File.exists?('app/config/app.rb') $a = File.readlines('app/config/app.rb') $b = IO.readlines('app/config/app.rb') $a.each do |line| if line =~ /KeyA = valueA/ keyA = line end end $b.each do |line| if line =~ /KeyB = valueB/ keyB = line end end if(keyA == keyB) return "app.rb is updated" end end end The above code always returning false. So what I am missing in above code. Please suggest. A: You should never compare strings with ==. Try to use the method.eql? or.equal? # if you compare strings using == "foo" == "foo" # => true # if you compare strings using.eql? "foo" == "foo" # => false # if you compare strings using.equal? "foo" == "foo" # => true Mutation analysis of the melanocortin-1 receptor gene in Norwegian
