Presentation to Video Converter, an easy to use application designed exclusively to convert Microsoft PowerPoint presentations to video files. It doesn't require Microsoft PowerPoint to work, which is quite good news given the fact that PowerPoint is such an expensive product, so you can freely install and use its conversion engine. The interface is the one that makes everything a breeze because it relies on a straightforward approach, with all features grouped in the same window and thus letting its users access them with just a few clicks. First of all, the user is prompted to select the presentation file he/she wishes to convert and the output file type, which can be an AVI, WMV, ASF or MPG file, an animated GIF, a SWF or a FLV Macromedia Shockwave Flash file. While each of the aforementioned formats can be further customized through dedicated options displayed in the “Video Settings” screen, the same window also holds the most important parameters of the output file, including resolution, aspect ratio, auto click and duration. As you can see, Presentation to Video Converter is not at all a difficult to use tool, so it’s almost impossible to get lost in the main window regardless of your computer knowledge. It can even deal with password-protected presentations and convert sounds effects as well. Plus, it comprises an effective and stable conversion engine, but it's pretty obvious that more supported formats and new configuration options could help a lot. All things considered, Presentation to Video Converter does what it says and with a few improvements here and there it could become the top product
