What's New In?

Spinwaves is a software, which provides users with an easy-to-use and very intuitive interface to easily calculate the behavior of spin waves in magnetic materials. The software also provides an inbuilt library of commonly used functions and modules, and can calculate by using a user defined interface. Spinwaves comes as an easy-to-install package which includes the necessary libraries and plugins to run the application, along with a pre-configured example calculation that can be used as a template. GitHub Repository: You can find the source code of Spinwaves on the GitHub repository. You can find the source code on GitHub by clicking on the "Fork me on GitHub" button. The GUI can be found in Spinwave/Gui, where the directory contains sub-directories that display the main parts of Spinwaves. This directory contains the functions to calculate the behavior of spin waves. These functions can be used either in the GUI or in the script mode. The GUI is displayed through a separate window and can be seen in Spinwave/Gui/main.py The script is displayed in a separate window as well and can be seen in Spinwave/script.py Users can also view the files and documentation in the file structure: You can use the help function, which can be found in Spinwave/ui/help.py in the script and in Spinwave/Gui/help.py in the GUI. If you have any questions regarding the use of Spinwaves, feel free to send them to me at bradley.campbell@paragonnaturals.com. Thank you for your continued support of Paragon Naturals!
