What's New in the SentryPC?

With SentryPC you can control almost every aspect of your computer. Detailed security logs Both locally and via remote servers you can monitor everything that is accessed and even the amount of time left to use. Most of all, you will get detailed information on what was accessed or attempted. In addition to that, you can receive email notifications about specific events or the amount of time used, and take any of these events into account when accessing your computer. Two levels of security To access all the tools in SentryPC you have to be the only administrator, even then you can only access the most sensitive settings. One of these is the security log, where you can view what the different users have done. You can also choose which events and activities that are logged. Comprehensive user profiles To give users the benefit of a personalized experience, you can choose for them to have their own screen saver, desktop background and general settings. This allows for users to have their own customizations on their desktop. Accessories and tools If you want to install more tools on your SentryPC or play around with the settings, you can access the suite through your menu. It offers many security tools, including the ability to lock and unlock the computer. "Additional Security Restrictions" have even more capabilities that go beyond a basic control panel, such as the ability to prevent accessing certain drives or to display a window with the user's real name if he attempts to access the computer. Wide support SentryPC is not only a security tool, but also a convenient and useful control panel that can be used by both administrators and users alike. SentryPC Download Page: 1.
