The client program is signaling through a different IP address. Such conflicts are not uncommon and can be easily prevented or caused. Temporary blocking of a computer using DDoS signals (sometimes called a botnet) Neutralization of unauthorized access to Internet resources is possible using software filters and a DDoC attack director (Distributed Denial of Service - Distributed denial of service attack). Almost all new (and not so) browsers support the Nginx protocol as a module to the smtp server - just configure NginX or create your own nginx server. The browser allows you to connect to proxy servers that allow you to make requests to remote servers. NginS allows you to change proxy server configs (copy / change) and connect only to those sites that contain Ngin/Nginx scripts and templates. DNS is a protocol for storing and transmitting information about domains (domain name and/or IP address in it). By itself, DNS is almost never used for scripting, but it allows you to manage DNS services that use the DNS protocol. Ngin implementation options: several, I chose the simplest and most effective way that allows you to connect to the server
