In fact, this step-by-step tutorial covers all you need to get started, including how to install a theme, customize it, and set it as your default theme.

Step 1: Create a Theme In Windows 7, a theme is just a collection of backgrounds and icons that make your computer look like the desktop of a certain individual. Whether that person is a sports icon like Dwayne Johnson or a pop icon like Madonna, you can make your own customized theme by creating a new folder and theme package and adding the images and settings files that you want to include in it.

Step 2: Add Wallpaper The first thing you want to do is add a wallpaper to your theme. You can add a digital photo to your theme or download a theme package that already has a wallpaper in it. Once you have your image, you can resize it to the right dimensions and then place it in the folder that you will save your new theme in.

Step 3: Add Backgrounds Next, you'll want to add some background images to your new theme. With Windows 7, themes have several background options that you can choose from, including solid color, gradient, image, and even picture frame.

Step 4: Install Theme You now have a theme ready to go. You can install it by selecting "Customize" from the "Settings" tab and then opening the Appearance category. You will then be presented with the following options to install your theme. To set this theme as the default, select "Set as default."

Step 5: Customize Theme After installing a theme, you can start customizing it. Click on the "Customize Theme" tab to access the settings.

Step 6: Make Theme Your Default Now that you have your theme ready to go, it's time to make it the default theme. Select the "Theme" tab and then select "Set as default" to set your new theme as the default. Tutorial Source: Field
