McAfee Total Protection Product Key Compatibility: Windows McAfee Total Protection Categories: For everybody Tuesday, May 22, 2018 Hi Today, we will check a cloud application, also known as SAAS application or Software as a Service Application. This term refers to cloud based services, like backup, security, payment gateway etc. It is a business model where the provider hosts the applications in the cloud and allows a user or company to use the application without having to worry about maintenance or hardware issues. It is similar to what we see on the web browser like Google Chrome or Microsoft Edge. What is it: This cloud application is also used to provide internet, which is similar to what we see on the mobile phone. This app may even use your credit card for payments, which can help you get access to your online account from any place, at any time of the day. The most used cloud app is SUREPAY, which is a service that allows users to send money to friends and family through the internet. It is also used to send money to a merchant as well. How to apply: Similar to the banking application, you can sign up on the service's website. Once you sign up for the service, you can browse through its list of payments. You can also search for the payment you would like to send to the recipient. After you complete your transactions, you can also send the payment to your friend or merchant through the internet. How to Save There are many reasons why you need to use the SUREPAY service. You can avoid worrying about the receipt you will be sending since your friend or merchant will receive it automatically. You will never have to send another reminder to your friend or merchant. You will be able to use the service at any time of the day and any place. You can even use it for sending money to any site or merchant. All your information is covered by strong security technologies.
