Help protect your computer from malicious attacks by setting the Windows User Account Control (UAC) to its highest level. It will also enable the Guest account, which disables many types of program-specific actions. Upon configuration, it will display a status message. Note that this application does require Internet Explorer 10, Windows Firewall and User Account Control to function as intended. How to create a variable to avoid warning: unmatched initialization of 'hello' I want to have a variable declared outside the scope. Here is an example: `#include char* hello = "Hello, world!"; int main() { std::cout typedef char* hello; int main() { std::cout` When news broke that Krispy Kreme was coming to Georgia and Georgia was close to getting a new Target store, the folks from U.S. Senator Saxby Chambliss' office contacted one of his neighbors to get his take. So we called Amanda Bingham, who runs B's Bakery and Gifts in Clayton. What she didn't expect to hear

Be lazy. In today's remote, you don't have to work in a traditional office and perform the hours we spent memorizing electrical codes. Today, you would drive down the street and conduct business in a few hours, never knowing what happens to your business but your sales. LazyManMade is here to change all that. Now, you can just get in the car and drive. The team at LazyManMade knows that in electrical contracting, this is what makes it hard, requiring people to spend long hours driving everywhere to have client service. LazyManMade make that a thing of the
