

Their emergence as key 'influencers' to new brand adoptions in space lately e extreme sports and professional games (e-sports). By 2017, branded companies that have not given up selling products in the US or will enter the new year ready to make deals with a new wave of investors will be able to expand their giving territory and create new opportunities. For example, Microsoft, which has been actively advertising its new products in recent months: "Here the concept of 'tradition'» is used - the traditional form of work, which is 'n customs and traditions who believe that people trust each other. This format was described by Robert Zelmdscher, currently the president of the company, and then refined into a new advertisement. "we were socially responsible..", reads the headline. "During the past few years, the world has experienced amazing changes affecting virtually every part of the healthcare system, and we must act very quickly to be able to use new technologies in order to increase our impact on people and society," says Matt

Stordal. , CEO of Microsoft Corporation. He also agrees that "there will be a significant increase in the number of brands and their size in the future" .', which "brings them closer to the point where they can form a larger part of an industry that can dictate the culture and rules, rather than just be part of commercial practice." "Nike uses the concept of traditional culture - a philosophy and behavior based on the personal experience of human participation in interaction with nature and others." "Apple, joining the community of big brands based on values â€œthat are integrated through the concept of corporate culture and principles, considers communication solutions based on a culture of communication as a choice that will allow any brand to significantly increase its influence."

And here is what Radcliffe Barben, owner of a consulting firm ' that won two US Department of Commerce grants, says about his work in the market for the promotion of goods and services: â€œBrand building plays a key role in the success of operations, as the brand provides the company with important knowledge that allows it to have sufficient competitive strength and, as a result, make successful strategic and
