The answer to this is that head lice are, indeed, found in the United Kingdom. Although head lice are not common in the United Kingdom, their presence in the country is not as rare as you may think. Lice and their human carriers are found all over the world.

A:The head lice population is made up of five species of lice. They are: * the body lice * the crab lice * the damsel lice * the chicken lice * the goose lice

A:The first step of head lice treatment is to clean the head. You can use a cleanser or lye solution.

You must clean the hair thoroughly from the roots to the tips. This is to eliminate the head lice and nits that are hiding in the hair. A:In a head lice treatment we kill the lice that are in your hair. We use an organic shampoo for this treatment. You can either be shampooed yourself or have us shampoo you for free.

A: There are two types of head lice treatment. One is preventive and the other is therapeutic. A: Preventative
