Tools Tags THE SPURS 100: FINALIST WATCH January 10, 2014 — As you've likely heard by now, the 2013-14 San Antonio Spurs were named one of the top 100 sporting events of the past century. The list, which was released by San Antonio magazine earlier this week, includes the Spurs as the sixth-best sporting event of the last century. While the Spurs haven't been on the list before, San Antonio has received top-100 lists before. It was ranked the second best event in the nation by the NCAA and the third best event in the nation by ESPN. The Spurs were the third-best sporting event in San Antonio history. The 2009 NBA Draft was the first, followed by the 2005 and 2003 Finals. The 1993 Southwest Conference Tournament and the 2004 NCAA Tournament round of eight stood as the two others. It's the fourth time San Antonio has been on a list of the best events of the last century. San Antonio hosted the 1984 Olympics and the 2007 World Championships of Badminton. San Antonio has also hosted the NCAA, NBA and the NFL Draft, in addition to the SCBA Nationals. Who we think was the best? The list was compiled by a panel of experts, including San Antonio Express-News sports columnist Mike Heika, San Antonio native and sports columnist for ESPN.com Mark Blaudschun, and Sports Media Watch editor and founder Patrick Courrielche. It's certainly a little surprising that the Spurs didn't make the cut for the top 10 list. Considering San Antonio has just one championship and only one trip to the Finals in the last 20 years, it's easy to consider them the first team in major sports to accomplish so little. The good news is that the Spurs made the list, and it's a lot higher than previous lists. That's certainly something to cheer about. Now, if we could only get San Antonio's sports writers to include David Robinson, Sean Elliott, Eric Nusbaum, Gregg Popovich and the rest of the team on top-100 lists./* * Copyright (c) 2000, 2020, Oracle and/or its affiliates.
