Windows Movie Maker And Windows DVD Maker SDK For Windows

Windows Movie Maker is a free and easy-to-use application that allows video creation and transition effects for online and offline viewing. You can create movies from any source in an easy step-by-step process, including DVD home movies. The new version of the software allows you to record a custom movie with the help of Windows Movie Maker. You can also select a video file, capture image files, save video files to your computer, and more. A transition effect for the movies can include 4 transition modes, text effect, picture show, picture fade, and picture slide. You can also add special effects to the video, including voice, vertical motion, picture flip, and fade. You can save the movie to your computer and burn it to a DVD for creating custom home movies. You can also burn an MP3 song that is synchronized with a movie. You can also use video filters to change the video color and black and white. You can also apply fade in and out to any video. A DVD player icon appears on the DVD disc, allowing the consumer to see the name of the DVD movie, the picture, and the title song. While video file data is stored in the computer, after the movie is made, it can be sent to another computer as an animation file. You can preview and click on an image on a picture-in-picture windows and create a snapshot of a part of the movie. You can also scrub through the movie and display the video file data in a different color. What is new in this release? Version 6 of Windows Movie Maker includes a variety of new features.
