No more laptops in checked bags, either. And yes, that means no more sleek 15-inch machines. In addition, we're not allowed to put the laptop in the compartment behind our seat (or that's what they're saying), which means no more forward-leaning laptop... unless you're willing to pay for an upgrade to that extra-large seat. [The TSA] According to TSA sources, that's the new procedure, and it's been in place for about a year. According to the TSA, even if you get the right kind of laptop, you have to turn it in for screening. Then, you can pick it up at the kiosk once you're cleared. This is all going to cost you. 54b84cb42d
