What's New in the?

Cable Box Offers 1TB Hard Drive for Airsoft, FPV/Model Aircraft, or RC Cars & Trucks. With no existing frame/car design limitations, build your own or pick up a ready-made model from the CPO Store. There are two different cable boxes included in this box. They are at different price points. (The "CBL5750" has a switch to go to the 220V model, but I have not done it yet. I did try it and it works fine.) The "CBLD720" can be set to operate as a 240V model and can receive satellite TV. The set has three inputs: HDMIParent's; a composite AV (RCA); and a composite NTSC (RCA) The composite video is RCA with the composite audio switched to Toslink. The composite audio is switchable between the DVD and TV audio outputs. Both have HDMI outputs. The satellite box has a Toslink output for a satellite receiver/DVR. On the "CBLD720" unit, HDMI connection is on the back panel. On the "CBL5750" unit, it is on the front panel. The output from the hard drive to the antenna is on the left side, in the top slot. The "CBLD720" allows a built-in antenna for satellite TV reception. It is very sturdy and has both a removable antenna and covers for it. The "CBL5750" is designed to allow an antenna or a wireless adapter for you to control your AV system from outside of the enclosure. This feature comes with the HDMI cable. See the picture to compare the two designs. The "CBLD720" has a USB port and can be switched to the 220V model. (I have not switched it yet.) The "CBL5750" has two HDMI inputs on the front panel. The front panel has a low pass filter for the HDMI and RCA inputs. It also has a low pass filter for the composite input. The "CBLD720" has a built-in power supply. It has two USB ports on the back panel. The "CBL5750" can use an external power supply. The hard drive has an external power supply. Setup Instructions Setup using the provided DVD/Blu-ray Combo. Use the included CD and install the software. Once the software is installed, connect the HDMI cable. Install the cable box. Install the software on the computer. The software allows for remote control of the cable box. Use the USB cable to install the software on a PC. Remove the HDMI cable from the computer. Install the "CBLD720" on the
