The topic of contract law in New Jersey is unique in many ways. This is the fifth edition. 36. CHAPTER 3. PROBLEMS OF FORMATION. 3.1 Overview. The problems associated with shaping relate to the choice of approach to shaping. We adhere to the principle of "comparison of alternatives", that is, we use all available means and methods of formation. Although only three of them are available to us, we believe that these are the most effective methods for compiling a document. We believe that no method excludes all alternatives and that no method is 100% guaranteed to succeed, but there is some risk in using each method.
