TAANSA has also been granted permission by the Civil Aviation Administration of Thailand to provide international booking and ticketing. "Our ongoing effort to enhance our services will certainly become more effective and competitive as the world keeps to change into the digital era," said TAANSA's chief executive officer Supote Wiriyasirivatana. The new GoGo service gives passengers online access to flight information including flight schedules, airport services and a mobile app, to check-in for flights, check baggage and pay for ticket sales. It can also be used to check-in for one's transportation pass and create a new QR code for one's luggage and flight information. The service is deployed on the airline's flagship
