3. **3 Choose the View** \> **Windows** \> **Stretch** to make the image fill the window. The background color of the Photoshop image window is the color of the last page of the book (white by default), but that's really only a minor consideration because you'd almost certainly choose a different color anyway. See the top image in Figure 3-1. For this demonstration, I made the image as large as it would stretch. If it doesn't stretch, as in the bottom image in Figure 3-1, make sure that your image is the active image in the workspace. 4. **4 Open the Properties palette (Windows key+J) by pressing Command+K.** The Properties palette appears with the Image thumbnail displayed on the left. On the right side, you see the color pop-up menus that control the color and lighting of the final image. 5. **5 Click the thumbnail of the image you want to "process" and look at the bottom of the palette for a long list of properties (see Figure3-1, bottom).** You can find a complete set of properties by choosing Edit > Preferences. You can also jump to the Properties palette by pressing Alt+D. 6. **6 Change the settings for the following settings:**

- _Size_ —Change the image size by clicking the numbers or using the scroll bars to set it to a percentage of the current size or to the specified size. The default size is 150 pixels wide by 300 pixels tall (4:3 aspect ratio).
- _Upright_ —Set the image to be displayed horizontally, on its side, or sideways. Flip the image horizontally by choosing View > Aspect Ratio > Flip Vertically. Flip it vertically by choosing View > Aspect Ratio > Flip Horizontally.
- _Rotate_ —Rotate the image by moving the crosshairs to the angle that you want.
- _Red-Eye_ —Turn this eye-tracking adjustment to the strength that you want. If it's too strong, the black circle in the lower-right corner of the preview is annoying.

7. **7 Press Return to apply the changes.** Figure 3-1: You can change the settings in the Properties palette to tweak the colors and image size. ## Adding Frames or Borders Photoshop provides a number of different frame options —

Considering the fact that Photoshop is most likely to be used by graphic designers, web designers and photographers, this page will be focusing on Photoshop. Different file types Different file types can be found in Photoshop. PSD: Adobe Photoshop is famous for the PSD file. It's a "palette-based" format, meaning that each element is referenced in the file by its name. For instance, a blue color might be referenced by its RGB (Red, Green, Blue) values. (The RGB system was designed to work with CRT monitors, but modern monitors use a different color model. Plus, RGB cannot represent colors in the natural universe.) These methods are called "color", "proofer" or "color mode", and have nothing to do with RGB. Check out this page for the details. The "RGB" color mode is the default, and comes with every version of Photoshop. Photoshop has been developing the ability to open other image formats over the years. Photoshop has 2 image file formats: Photoshop is able to handle images in most other formats, but some formats might be better for some uses (for example, PDF or TIFF) If an image is compressed (optimized), Photoshop will not decompress it for you Tip: Use Save For Web and Devices Save For Web and Devices is a great feature that lets you convert any image to optimize it for the web and your mobile devices. All you have to do is select a format, and Save for Web is the default. Here are some file formats you can save to, and the pros and cons of each: JPEG (Joint Photographic Experts Group) — JPEG is the most popular image format, because it supports lossless compression (no quality is lost) and is a standard format for cameras (most cameras and smartphones save in this format). It is compatible with other formats like TIFF and GIF, though it might compress images slightly. Saving to JPEG for mobile devices You can't undo a JPEG, so if you accidentally save an image as JPEG, you have to convert it back to PSD or TIFF before you can do anything else. If you use a ton of images on the web, you may want to save everything as JPEG to save a little bit of space on your server, and 388ed7b0c7

Q: Trying to make a Proof by Induction, but am getting the wrong answer when I am supposed to The question asks to: use proof by induction to show that:  $\sum_{i=1}^n (2^{i-1}) = n2^{\{n+1\}} - 2^{\{n+1\}}$  \$ To me, it seems that it is not difficult to prove this with a geometric series:

$$\sum_{i=1}^n 2^i = \frac{2^{n+1} - 2}{2-1} = 2^{n+1} - 2$$

$\sum_{i=1}^n (2^{i-1}) = \sum_{i=1}^n (2^i) = n2^{\{n+1\}} - 2^{\{n+1\}}$  I was thinking about using the induction hypothesis, which is the  $n$  cases for  $n=1,2,\dots,n-1$ , and the result is  $2^{\{n+1\}} - 1$  at base case. Then with the induction hypothesis, and the base case results, I know that the next step of the induction proof should be to have some  $k \in \{1,2,3,\dots,n-1\}$  that can be chosen such that  $k=2^{k-1}$ , but I am really stuck at this point, and I can't seem to figure out the next step. This is what I have up until now:  $\sum_{i=1}^{\{n+1\}} (2^{i-1}) = \sum_{i=1}^n (2^{i-1}) + 2^{\{n+1\}} - 1$   $2^{n-1} = 2 \cdot 2^{\{n+1\}} - 2^{\{n+1\}} + 1$   $2^{n-1} = 2^{\{n+1\}} - 2^{\{n+1\}} + 1$   $2^{n-1} = 2^{\{n+1\}} - 1$  Where am I going wrong, and how do I fix this? A: It seems to be like a logical error, since your base case  $\sum_{i=1}^n (2^{i-1})$  is  $n2^{\{n+1\}} - 2^{\{n+1\}}$ , so it was the base step and you don

Q: How to get path of an app from another application My Application is simple. I need to know path of that application from my application. I have used following code to get the path of my app. public class MyAppActivity extends Activity { @Override public void onCreate(Bundle savedInstanceState) { super.onCreate(savedInstanceState); setContentView(R.layout.main); String path=this.getFilesDir().getPath(); Toast.makeText(MyAppActivity.this, path, Toast.LENGTH_LONG).show(); } } but I need to get the path of that application which I have opened. I am trying to implement an application which will ask user for permission. I need to know the location of that application and I will try to do some changes in that location. So that user should know he/she is installing my application. A: I think you are looking for another concept, "android package". Typically, application is installed and has an application package name, which also matches the resources, for instance, for Android development, the package name is com.example.hello. Main menu Post navigation Sprint's Research, Innovation & Development (RID) division celebrated its two-year anniversary last week. On Wednesday, they marked the occasion with a chalk-and-paint art installation in downtown Dallas. Though I missed the unveiling, I heard the piece was incredibly awesome. The Sprint RID team had a tough time choosing a date to celebrate. When I was there last December, the work the team was doing just seemed so futuristic. The scientists were designing "Martians" on the 3-D printer, wearing insect-like exoskeletons and controlling them with bionic limbs. If that doesn't give you a good feeling about the work the team is doing, they have invented a technology that makes solar panels cheaper than they are today. Not only does the team give a manufacturing process a whirl, they also build prototypes, which will be a key element of the future of manufacturing. While the employees of the division have major clout in
