Film Processing Equipment Most imaging centers have a VESDA (or Vericolor Digital Expressionist) or an Efke processing machine, and a computer workstation. A film processor can have a few computers on it, but it will have the processing machine, the developer, and the darkest room. A darkroom is an enclosed area where you load the exposed film, which is developed, and it is stored. Some online services are available for processing your film, such as Black Magic. ## Finding Resources Once you've narrowed down your choices and have done a bit of research on your favorite programs, you can start asking for assistance. The first place you should look is on the Internet. The Internet is a vast resource for

Q: How do I allow a user to sign in with a different email address than the one on their account? I have a user account with the old email address and then I have a new email address with a new gmail account I created. How do I make the user login with the new gmail account? Also, how do I allow the old email address that has not changed to notify the user of new email address? Thanks A: When you created the new gmail, you can create an alias for the email account that you want the other users to use. This allows you to have the same email account, but people can't email your old account. How To: Setting up your Gmail account as an alias If you don't want to set up an alias for your account, you can just use your new email address as the @gmail.com address and send email there. Q: Sharepoint HttpRequest rejecting basic auth I have a problem with a request that passes from one of my site collections to another (C#). I have created a site collection named "news" and the second one is called "events" (using Powershell). The same request works fine if I make it from "news" to "events", but if it pass from "events" to "news" (making a "PutItem" request through "events" site collection and receiving the http response through "news" site collection) the request fails and the site (solution or web application) returns the following error: "This request is forbidden by the remote server's configuration settings." I have tried to modify the web application settings (request restrictions), both the last two values in code: 1 - The request requires authorization 2 - The server access to that destination is forbidden The same request works fine if I make it from "news" to "events", but it does not work if it passes from "events" to "news" (making a "PutItem" request through "events" site collection and receiving the http response through "news" site collection). The same request works fine if I make it from "news" to "events", but it does not work if it passes from "events" to "news" (making a "PutItem" request through "events" site collection and receiving the http response through "news" site collection). The same request works fine if I make it
