According to Jeff Malmberg, a personal journey to discover how the city's workers and their families actually lived, how they were finding a place in the more diverse country of Poland, and how their lives changed after the August of 1963 when they marched on parliament to protest the almost complete social and cultural transformation of the city and its people. -- Design: The author's illustrations are brought to life with photographic illustrations and color maps that help the reader to understand the story.

A phase I, dose-escalation study of perfusion-guided whole-body irradiation with image-guided adaptive delivery (PWA-IT) combined with chemotherapy in patients with primary or metastatic lung cancer. Here, we report the results of a phase I study of a perfusion-guided whole-body irradiation with image-guided adaptive delivery (PWA-IT) combined with concurrent cisplatin-based chemotherapy in patients with primary or metastatic non-small cell lung cancer. Patients were treated with one of seven dose levels (100, 150, 200, 250, 300, 350, 400 cGy per fraction) using 45 Gy in 15 fractions for the PWA-IT followed by 22 Gy in 11 fractions for the whole-body irradiation (WBI) plus chemotherapy (Cisplatin 85 mg/m² d1-5, q21 days). The dose-limiting toxicities (DLTs) were assessed throughout the irradiation course. Among all patients, the treatment response, the side effects, and the overall survival were evaluated. The DLTs were nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and constipation. One DLT was observed in the 150 cGy/fraction level, and the recommended total dose was determined to be 350 cGy/fraction. Toxicity was acceptable. Two patients were classified as
