after anthony davis called out the lakers defense following thursdays loss to san antonio, the people around him were paying attention. coach frank vogel said he spoke with davis and was glad he was edgy and angry, while fellow team captain lebron james said the players heard him loud and clear. a negative balance on a credit card means your credit card company owes you money, rather than the other way around. in other words, you've paid more than your total balance due. credit card companies generally prevent you from paying more than you owe, especially online. but if you pay by check, you might get around the policy. youll see the negative balance on your monthly statement as well as on the main page of your online account when you log in. udemy's online cooking courses feature experts delivering lectures on specific food and drink topics such as bartending mastery, if you're hoping to put your new bar gear to good use, or sourdough 101 (that's still a thing, right) and french macarons for aspiring pastry chefs. classes are individually priced, most running between $15 and $30. any of the classes can be given as a gift. facing further criticism, facebook said that it had made changes to its online advertising operations and was also changing the way its news feed worked. the firm initially blamed the cambridge analytica scandal for the changes. however, facebook is now facing criticism from some quarters that the changes are the result of an attempt to protect facebook's business model, in a traditional brokerage house, when a customer buys or sells a security, the transaction happens in the open market, where prices are determined through a free and open market and independent of any special arrangements between any parties. market makers also make markets on any number of securities, when they make a market, they are creating a "price" on that security. these prices are based on bids (how much they are willing to pay) and offers (how much they are willing to sell for). a market maker has only the client s interests at heart, and they arent going to stick around for the entire trading day if they dont find a willing counterparty. there are many different types of traders in the stock market, including retail, institutional, and market makers, the market maker is typically a large player that makes many trades, and is best thought of as a broker. the market maker, in turn, is best thought of as a broker, as they are the ones doing the buying and selling of securities on behalf of their clients.
